BLIND SCHOOL BOARD ANGRY AT GOVERNOR

Signing of Bill Giving Jurisdiction to State Board of Education Is Resented by Supporters of Breed Plan

Feud of Six Years' Standing Breaks Out Again; Resignations of Directors Is Hinted; Nat Friend Talks

Resignation of the entire board of directors of the California School for the Deaf and Blind as a result of the signing of Assembly Bill No. 127 by Governor Stephens, which will separate the blind from the deaf at the Berkeley institution, looms today as a new development in a heated fight which has centered about the school for the past six years.

In signing Assembly Bill No. 127, introduced by Assemblyman Harry Morrison of San Francisco, which places the blind school under the State Board of Education, the governor, after consulting with Senator George H. Brewster of Oakland and sponsored by the blind school board providing for an entirely new institution for the blind away from the present site.

The governor's signing of this assembly bill is a direct slap for the members of the board of directors of the Breed School, which is the blind school of Oakland today. "Our first impulse would be to resign immediately; but as we are legislated out of office on August 1 under the governor's reorganization measure and the school placed in the hands of the state board of education that might be a tool step."

RETHINKING OF QUITTING BOARD.

"I, for one, feel like sending in my resignation immediately and I am not certain just what I shall do in the matter. The other members of the board feel equally hurt that the governor has turned down their opinions for those of a small group of people who, for reasons of their own, have been working for this change. We cannot tell just what we shall do until we have talked things over."

DR. HARRIS KLEIN, Hotel Whitcomb, several fractured ribs, cuts and bruises.

MRS. ROSE DIBBLE, 900 Valencia street, cuts and bruises, suffering from shock.

MARVIN DEMOREST, 900 Valencia street, cuts and bruises.

Those shaken up and suffering slightly from shock were:

LIEUTENANT FRED BRYANT, Marine Corps, Yerba Buena Island.

MISS JEANET ENRIGHT, 5955 California street.

MISS JESSIE MCLEMORE, 2899 Fulton street.

The first accident occurred about 12:30 a.m. on the main drive in Golden Gate Park opposite Twenty-fourth avenue. Five automobiles were concerned in it. Lieutenant Frederick Bryant, driving his sedan, had as passengers Mrs. Dibble and Demorest. There had been a light rain and the skid marks on the curve and turned completely over.

Other than a bad shaking up none of the occupants were hurt by the accident. Walter Webb of 2754 Twenty-third street, stopped his car to render aid. Mrs. M. Lesser of 108 Ellsworth street, coming quickly from behind, crashed into Webb's car and almost immediately was struck by another automobile. Mrs. Lesser rolled on the scene, but the automobile which hit her backed up and disappeared. Meantime Webb was assisting Lieutenant Bryant in aiding Mrs. Dibble and Demorest. They had just taken them out of the overturned machine and were walking across the road when another automobile came driving toward them. All four were knocked down by the machine sped on in the darkness without hesitating to determine what havoc it had wrought. It was in this accident that Mrs. Dibble and Demorest were hurt and after treatment at the Park Emergency Hospital were taken to St. Francis Hospital.

The governor not only rode over the opinion of the board of directors, but in the leading blind school experts in the country, Dr. A. C. Maculon of the Alleghany School of the Blind, a reputed expert in that work, was called west by the board of the California school to make a survey and reported to the governor against separation on the same site, said Nichols.

"This may be temporary economy but it is short-sighted economy," says Nichols. "Someone will pay in the end."

BLIND TO HAVE OWN COTTAGE SYSTEM.

The assembly bill as signed by Governor Stephens yesterday provides for an equal distribution of land, holdings and appropriations between the blind and the deaf at the present site of the State school. Appointment of a principal within sixty days to take charge of the affairs of the blind is also provided for. Although not provided for in the separate bill, an appropriation of $10,000 will be available for the construction of a cottage system on the land allotted to the blind. The State Board of Control is declared to have favored the separation of the school on the same site and an appropriation from that source is looked for shortly by proponents of the assembly measure.

In the fight waged at the present session of the legislature, the assembly measure was supported by the California Association for Self-Supporting Blind, headed by Ernest Leslie, blind student at the University of California. As active workers for the bill were Mme. Christine LaBarque, blind singer of San Francisco, and Mrs. Robert Graham, Berkeley clubwoman. Lined against these forces were the board of directors of the school, aided by the Alameda Association of the California School for the Blind, of which John Dondero is president.

For six years every session of the legislature has seen rival bills introduced which have precipitated heated fights among the lawmakers.

"The signing of the assembly bill by the governor is indeed a victory for the blind," California said, "but it is not today a home, 224 Piedmont Avenue, Berkeley. To have signed the Breed bill calling for an entirely new site the governor would

Mother's Claim On Parentage of Child Is False

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Dr. Albert Abrams, who started the country a short time ago by declaring his "oscilloscope" could determine parentage, race and similar questions, reported to Superior Judge Graham that the claim of Mrs. Manuela del Secco that her son, Eugene, was the child of a man other than her husband, was untrue.

It brought to a climax one of the most remarkable cases on the court records here.

Mrs. del Secco was divorced two years ago from Antonio del Secco. The husband was awarded custody of two of the three children and recently asked the court to award him the third, Eugene, aged 6.

Mrs. del Secco appeared in court and flatly stated del Secco was not the father of Eugene.

Superior Judge Graham asked that Dr. Abrams make a test of the child's blood. Today Abrams reported that the blood vibrations of the child were the same as those of del Secco and that del Secco was the child's father.

Seven Are Hurt When Six Autos Collide in S. F.

Five Cars in Single Crash; Two Motorists Flee After Accidents.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Three persons, including one woman, were painfully injured and four others were badly shaken up in two automobile accidents early today in which a total of six machines figured, two of them speeding off without determining the damage they had done or rendering aid to their victims. Those hurt were:

"Under the Breed bill, the blind school could have been moved to the other end of the state. What the blind want is to be near the university where many of them take work. To move them even to northwest Berkeley as had been planned would be a great hardship."

The place is on the present site and there is plenty of room both for the blind and deaf where they are at present."

POLITICS CHARGED IN BREED BILL

Mrs. Graham charges that "politics" was played and that the vital issues were misrepresented by prominent leaders who were in obtaining the support of the California Congress of Mothers at the Oakland convention.

The mothers had previously gone on record for separation at the present site and they thought they were endorsing the same measure last week, as distorted by the leaders who were then," said Mrs. Graham. "I have been assured of this by prominent mothers of the state who declared that it was the assembly bill they were endorsing when they voted and not the other measure."

Mrs. Avery was the speaker who presented the case for the blind school at the Oakland session of the Congress of Mothers, and it was after her talk that the mothers took action She denies misrepresentation.

Other members of the state school board who stood for the Breed measure were Professor Thomas M. Putnam, head of the undergraduate division at the University of California, and Colonel Frank Maston of San Francisco.

Jury Trying Boy Disagrees

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE
KNOX, Ind., June 3.—A Judge postponed the trial of a boy charged in the case of Cecil Burket, aged 11, charged with the murder of a playmate, today, when the foreman of the jury said an agreement was impossible.

The boy had been out nineteen hours and argued all night over Cell's rate.

Burket, the boy's mother surrounded by his group of seven children, broke down and wept for the first time since the trial began.

Following a conference with the father of Benny Slavin, the slain boy, the prosecution announced that Cecil must stand trial again in October.

"He killed my boy," said Benny's father. "We will prosecute until justice is done. I demand another trial."

The jury stood six for manslaughter and six for acquittal on the first ballot. When the disagreement was reported to the judge, eleven jurors stood for conviction and one for acquittal.

Cecil displayed no concern over the fact that the jury failed to acquit him.

"Oh, it don't make any difference to me," he said, sticking his hands in his bulging pockets. "Only I hope I don't have to come back here again."

The boy has been calm throughout his trial.

After the disagreement he tucked the little thumb-worn map—his version of the tragedy—back in his blouse, going swimming as soon as they let me out of here, ma," said Cecil. "Ma" did not answer.

"It's been awful cooped up here all the time. I'll be glad to get out."

He is under $10,000 bonds, raised by citizens of Ora, not far from here.

Voices of the jurymen could be heard from the little alcove above the county courthouse all night. They pleaded, argued and became angry with one another.

A division of the buildings is made. The governor has been preaching economy, so how can he appropriate $70,000 for new buildings for the blind? The money isn't there, according to the statements which have been made. It is a step backward for the blind in the state instead of forward.

Friend and the other four members of the blind school board will automatically be released from office on August 1 as a result of the governor's reorganization measure signed this week in which the agricultural school is closed among state normal schools and is placed under the jurisdiction of the state board of education.

Lockout Is Faced by Cotton Workers

By LLOYD ALLEN
United Press Staff Correspondent.
LONDON, June 3.—With more than 3,000,000 workers already idle as a result of the coal strike, the addition of 500,000 cotton workers to the unemployed list was threatened today. Cotton mill owners served notice that if proposed wage reductions are not accepted the factories will be closed.

British officials viewed the prospect of additions to the list of unemployed with great concern.

Discarded Cigarette Costs Alameda $100

ALAMEDA, June 3.—Fire Chief Walter Steinmetz valued a cigarette smoke at $100 last night. At least 100,000 citizens of the city when a careless smoker threw his cigarette into the window panes of the railway switchback at Park and Encinal avenues. The resultant blaze, while small, necessitated calling out a number of pieces of apparatus. The expense of the run to the city was valued at $100 by Chief Steinmetz. No trace of the smoker could be found.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE
WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Chamber of Commerce today unanimously adopted a resolution urging Brigadier-General Charles E. Barrett, commanding National Guardsmen here, not to permit removal of the troops for at least a week.

TULSA, Okla., June 3.—Pillagers, robbing on burned and bloodstained Tulsa, gave authorities a new problem to cope with today.

Systematic robbery in the negro districts razed during two days of race rioting was reported—even bodies have been carried away.

General Barrett, in charge of the troops, has been requested to concentrate on the property of negroes, found in their ruined shacks, into one large heap for identification and protection.

Revised estimates now place the total dead list without interments at 100, and about 300 injured.

Earlier reports placed the list at 150 to 175. This was due to multiplication of records among sheriffs' deputies, police, the national guard and other peace agencies.

The citizens' committee has started the despatch of supplies to needy negroes.

Rantings of a secret negro cult are believed today by authorities to have fanned the race feeling. Members of an organization called "Blood Brothers" are said to have been on hand to inform the negroes who is alleged to have assaulted a white girl.

Ten negroes, held in a detention camp, are charged with inciting the riot.

A definite effort will be made by Attorney General Freedman and other state officials to remove Mayor Evans, it was said today. Charges will be presented against the city authorities when the special grand jury, called by District Judge Valentine Eddison, meets June 8, according to reports.

Reports reaching the citizens' committee here from all over the country stating that money is being gathered in many cities to build up the $500,000 building fund to replace wrecked homes and to place the once-proud oil metropolis on its feet.

LAWYERS' BILL IS APPROVED BY GOV. STEPHENS

Executive Issues Explanation Giving Reasons for Signing Measure.

SACRAMENTO, June 3.—Accompanying his declaration by a statement declaring that reasonable protection for attorneys in the practice of law would make for the public good, Governor Stephens yesterday signed Senate Bill 21, preventing persons or corporations not admitted to the practice of law from advertising themselves as accepting employment as attorneys.

The bill, it is said, will have the effect of preventing trust companies from drawing legal documents for their clients or giving them advice or a legal nature.

In the statement the Governor said he had been informed that similar laws had been enacted in other States and that banks and trust companies

WHITE HOUSE OF CONFEDERACY IS SOUTH'S SHRINE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 3.—The South of the 60's and its children dedicated here today one of its most precious jewels—the old plantation which Jefferson Davis, as the president of the Confederate States of America, first took up his residence, the first White House of the Confederacy. The ceremonies consisted of a parade to the State Capitol, where Davis took the oath of office followed by an address by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi. Other exercises of a historical nature were held for the 100th anniversary on the spot where Davis held his first Cabinet meeting, and where decision was reached to fire on Fort Sumter.

had prospered while at the same time the lawyers had been protected.

The statement follows:

"I have today signed Senate Bill 21, known as the lawyers' bill. I believe in the integrity and ability of the legal profession, and because at attorneys-at-law are necessary for our public and private welfare. Reasonable protection for them in the practice of law will make for the public good."

No legitimate activity of any trust company, bank or corporation is interfered with. On the other hand, the profession of law is protected against commercial exploitation.

An almost identical statute, I am informed, has been in force for a number of years in the State of New York—and laws quite similar to this one have been enacted in a number of other States. The trust companies and banks in these States have grown and prospered tremendously, while at the same time the lawyers have been protected under legislation of this kind."

Mrs. F. R. Thompson, Old Resident, Dies

Mrs. Frances Roosevelt Thompson, died yesterday at her home, 2522 Eleventh avenue, following a stroke of paralysis which she suffered five months ago. She was 76 years old.

A half century ago Frances Roosevelt accompanied the daughter of the governor of Michigan on a pleasure trip to the coast. Romance awaited the young woman in her meeting with Thomas Thompson, pioneer baker and fruit grower of Napa Valley, who followed immediately.

Thompson died 20 years ago. The only son, Hugh Thompson, well known in fraternal circles, died four years ago. Mrs. Thompson is survived by two sisters and a brother.

Mrs. Thompson was the daughter of a former mayor of Flint, Michigan, who was closely related to the family of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

FRECKLED-FACED BOY WINS HOME THROUGH TRIBUNE

Man Sought to Adopt Red-Haired Charles; Two More Boys, Girl Waiting.

Last week there appeared in THE TRIBUNE an announcement that the Oakland branch of the Children's Home Society of California at 491 Sixty-sixth avenue had a red-haired, freckled-faced boy to give away, and of the difficulty he was having in trying to find a home where a red-headed and freckled-faced boy would be welcome.

Yesterday Charles—that was his name—found a home after nearly a year of trying. See what he should claim him. And there are more applications coming in. From out in Nevada a woman sent a clipping from THE TRIBUNE and wrote,

"I want this boy." From up in Sonoma county a family sent a clipping from THE TRIBUNE and offered to give the boy a real home. But the lucky applicant was an Oakland man, a Mr. Son, who had lost a freckled-faced red-headed boy of his own and wanted just such a lad to take his place.

HAS A REAL HOME.

Charles now has a real home. He sleeps in a walnut bed with a feather mattress, has a bicycle, football, baseball gloves, bat mask and a pet goat. His adopted parents have plenty of money and everything to make a real boy happy.

With Charles' success in landing a real home, there are two other boys and a girl who want homes. They are Adolph, 11 years old, and Orville, 7. They are old, as is Clara, 11, who is a real girl. Little Joe Jackson, a Rumanian, who is 3 years old, also wants a home. He is a little fellow full of sunshine, has red cheeks, is dark skinned and is as bright as any little boy's age.

Adolph once had a home down in the southern part of the State, but the woman to whom he was sent didn't seem to care and wouldn't let him stay long. He ran away and came back to Oakland. But Adolph has improved to such an extent that only yesterday he offered to go back and make good with the woman, despite the restrictions she imposed to curtail his mania for baseball and other things that go to make up a boy. But W. A. Jackson, who is in charge of the Oakland branch, shook his head and told

Washington Notes

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Definite promises that long deferred soldier bonus legislation will be passed at this session of Congress were made by members of the subcommittee of the Senate finance committee, which has the subject before it. The legislation on which the committee will seek action is embodied in the McCumber bill, which is substantially the same as that passed by the House a year ago. The exceptions are that it eliminates entirely the tax features.

Opposing a deficiency appropriation of $50,000,000 for the Shipping Board, Senator King, Democrat, Utah, charged in the Senate yesterday that the management of the shipping affairs was in the hands of "incompetent men, mainly hostile to the sale of government ships," because that would put their jobs out of existence. The Senator declared that in five years the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation had spent approximately $3,700,000,000.

Elimination by the House of practically all of the $98,000,000 added to the naval appropriation bill by the Senate was forecast by Representative Kelley, Republican, Michigan, chairman of the House conference on the measure. He added, however, that the House might yield on the Senate item for new navy aircraft.

A joint resolution designed to prevent wholesale importation of foreign goods preliminary to the enactment of a tariff law by Congress was introduced by Chairman Little of the House committee on revision of laws. It would authorize the president to limit imports for ninety days.

Formal endorsement of the Central American Federation of states was voted by Secretary Hughes in an address at a luncheon in his honor given by Maximo H.

EXTENSION WORK ON BUILDINGS AT CAPITOL ASSURED

Improvements, Tied Up Because of Failure to Sell Bonds, Provided For.

SACRAMENTO, June 3.—Governor Stephens has signed Senate bills 649 and 650, introduced in the last Legislature by Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento, which provide funds for the construction of proposed capitol extension buildings in Sacramento, opposite the state capitol, which long have been held up because of the inability of the state to sell $3,000,000 bonds voted for the purpose by the people in 1914.

The bonds have been unsalable because of the low rate of interest they carry, which is 4 per cent, and it was at the suggestion of Governor Stephens to the board of control that Senator Inman introduced his bills.

Senate bill 649 reappropriates $300,000, which was voted by the Legislature two years ago to aid construction, but which became inadequate because of the increased cost of building. Senate bill 650 adds $100,000 by appropriation, which, with the amount reappropriated, it is believed, will assist in the selling of the bonds.

FOR PRINTING PLANT.

In addition to these bills Governor Stephens also signed Senate bill 452, appropriating $15,000 for the new printing plant in Sacramento.

The state printing plant now is in an old frame structure on one corner of the capitol grounds. Governor Stephens already had signed the bill passed by a previous Legislature appropriating $100,000 for the plant.

The two bills will make available a total of $175,000 for site and building.

The city of Sacramento has offered the two square blocks for the site of the new capitol extension buildings, is co-operating in the purchase of the new location for the printing plant.

"We all take pride in our state capitol," said Governor Stephens, "and I am proud to have had considerable to do in making it bigger and better. I have always taken a genuine interest in Sacramento and I appreciate the generous spirit of the people of this state in giving the two blocks to provide ground for the new buildings adjacent to the present capitol structures."

SITE FOR EXTENSION.

The area between Ninth, Tenth, 11th and N streets, across Tenth street, from the capitol grounds, comprises the site of the new extension buildings.

As the result of a competition held by the capitol extension commission the firm of Weeks & Day of San Francisco was selected as the architects to prepare the plans and specifications for the two buildings to house the state library and the state offices. The working plans and drawings were filed with the state architect in March, 1920.

Two aims will be achieved by the state in building the capitol extension building, Governor Stephens said. First, they will house the state departments in Sacramento and make possible a large annual saving of funds now expended for rent of private office rooms and, second, they will provide a fireproof state library building to accommodate the state library now situated in the non-fireproof capitol.

Texans Acquitted of Murder Charge

EL PASO, Texas, June 3.—After deliberating 28 hours the jury in the Shearman murder trial yesterday acquitted Allen Shearman and Tomas Madrono and reported inability to agree in the case of John D. Shearman and his sons Neil and John.

The trial was the outcome of the killing on March 21 last of two probation officers, C. A. Wood and S. E. Beckett, who with two other federal officers attempted to serve a search warrant on the Shearman ranch five miles east of El Paso.

Auto Is Wrecked by Safety Station Crash

A. J. Smith, an Oakland merchant, ran over a safety station at East Twelfth street and 11th Shore boulevard. The machine was wrecked and he was treated at the office of Dr. Charles H. Walters for a broken nose and cuts and bruises on the body.

FISH TIRE OF HOME IN RIVER; TRY DRY LAND

ROCHESTER, Minn., June 3.—Men and boys fishing in the St. Croix river about two miles north of here were startled when hundreds of bass, crappies, suckers and sunfish suddenly leaped high out of the water and landed on the banks. At one point the water was only an hour's tiring fish back into the water. Many of the fish died before they could be thrown back.

The belief was expressed that a poisonous substance poured into the river through Rochester's sewer was responsible. A box of fish was sent to the state game and fish department for examination.

Twenty Carloads of Fresno Fruits Burn

FRESNO, June 3.—The Cluff warehouse was partially destroyed by fire here last night with a loss in structure and contents estimated at $500,000 by the manager. Twenty carloads of raisins and dried fruit, furniture and pianos and other goods stored in the building were destroyed. Only the annex of the building was saved and 200 automobiles in this part of the warehouse were saved.

The master of the building and Assistant Fire Chief, W. W. Clark, of the fire department stated that they believed that the fire was of incendiary origin. They said that a watchman made an inspection of the building about half an hour before the blaze was discovered by a passerby and the alarm turned in.

Fruit stored in the building was largely the property of independent fruit companies, while the California Associated Raisin Company also had some stored.

AGED SUFRAGIST DIES.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 3.—Thea Hebe A. Hanford, prominent suffrage worker and first woman minister to the Connecticut legislature, died here at the home of her granddaughter. She was 92 years old.

Russ Sending Turks Machine Guns, Gold

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Large quantities of machine guns and cannon have been received by the Turkish Nationalists from Russia. Gold and silver bullion is also being sent into Asia Minor by Russia and will be minted by the Turkish Nationalist government.

Mith-Rite Members Will Cruise On Bay

The members of the Mith-Rite and their friends are to enjoy a launch ride on Sunday, June 12. The plans provide for a cruise around the bay during the forenoon. In the afternoon the party will dock at Belvedere, where a picnic and dancing bee, which promises plenty of good entertainment and music, consists of K. M. Reid, chairman, Victor Neway, Cyril Stone, J. H. Byrne. The party will leave Crowley's dock, San Francisco, at 9:30 a. m. and the foot of Broadway, Oakland, at 9:30 a. m. Howard, in the Rockridge district, where their brother, John M. Howard, claimed as his bride, Miss Dorothy Saunders of Broadway, Rev. F. W. Macfiekin, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, officiated at the ceremony, which was attended by relatives and intimate friends. The bride wore a very beautiful gown of silk net embroidered in silver. A wreath of orange blossoms held her veil of tulle in place and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Thelma Koldenstrodt of San Francisco, maid of honor, was bridesmaid. The ring-bearer, John Chester Howard, a nephew of the groom, was ring-bearer. Robert Perkins of San Francisco attended the bridegroom. An informal reception and supper followed the ceremony.

Britain May Aid in Return of Bergdoll

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Interest in the case of Grover Bergdoll, draft evader, has been manifested by the British Government. War Department officials declare, and it is possible the Government will assist the United States in its efforts to obtain his return from Germany.

Officials would not say just how Great Britain might assist, but Bergdoll is known to have entered Germany on Canadian passport, and it has been suggested Great Britain might ask for the extradition of the slacker on the ground of a violation of Canadian passport laws.

VETO SUSTAINED

MADISON, Wis., June 3.—The assembly voted 56 to 34 against passage of the Matheson prohibition enforcement bill over the veto of Governor Blaine.

'Cause Mr. Harbauer, who is in charge, has assembled a bunch of LIVE WIRE BARGAINS, especially among the "HOT ONES." We had a big day's business a year ago, but Mr. Harbauer says he is going to beat it by a wide margin. He knew he had to step to do it, but he says he has got real, high voltage value bargains for Saturday that will turn the trick. Folks, you are certainly getting great opportunities to save in this "ELECTRIFYING LIVE WIRE BUYERS SALE." They're burning up the profits but we want the volume. SO BE HERE EARLY. WHITTHORNE & SWAN.

Buyer for the Household Department is in complete charge of the entire store Saturday. This is his message: "I've been supplying households for some time. I know what the folks want and I'm going to offer them Saturday, just what they want at prices that will attract their money like a magnet."

Moving Picture Is Attraction in Tahiti

PAPEETE, Tahiti, May 4.—(Delayed).—The greater number of the films displayed at the only picture house in Tahiti are American pictures and, as the explanations are in English, it is necessary to interpret the story as the picture proceeds. The one who performs this office is a young man of French descent who was born in the Islands; is a master of the Tahitian language, and is endowed with the gift of elocution.

a veritable William Jennings Bryan of the South Seas.

Standing in the center of the gallery, he plays upon his audience as a master of an up-to-date art. He has the gift of the spoken word, rousing them to laughter, plunging them into despair and tears and inspiring them to roof-shaking cheers as the emotions of the pictured actors ebb and flow.

The moving pictures have had a great influence in changing the life of the Islands. They have brought knowledge to the natives of the manners and customs of other lands and have changed the Tahitian's viewpoint from that of an isolated islander to the broad sapience of one who has traveled in many countries.

He has been educated on the social and religious achievements of the white man; has viewed his famous cities; been instructed in his vanities and therefore no longer considers himself provincial.

It is something of a shock to the average visitor who believes the heroic tales told in books, expects to find a horde of naked savages, is met instead by the spectacle of brown women in Paris gowns, picture hats and high-heeled shoes.

RICH MAN TO WED HIS HOUSEKEEPER

A romance that began five years ago when Mrs. V. McIntyre became housekeeper for Francis Kelly, wealthy Piedmont resident, following the death of his wife in April, 1915, will culminate next Wednesday, June 11, in the marriage of the couple who took out a marriage license at the county clerk's office. Kelly gave his age as 70 and his fiancee's as 48.

After working in the capacity of housekeeper for six months following the death of Kelly's wife, Mrs. McIntyre left for the east where she remained several years, to return last November to resume her old position as housekeeper for Kelly for two years.

After the wedding next Wednesday the couple will leave for Sonoma county for a three months' honeymoon in the Coast Range mountains.

Following their return they will make their home at 3883 Piedmont avenue.

Inheritance Tax Is Largest Item

SACRAMENTO, June 3.—State Controller John S. Chambers has announced that $2,624,760.28 has been added to the state treasury through the second annual settlement of the counties with the state. The largest item in the settlement was inheritance taxes which totalled $1,796,011.55 thus bringing the total inheritance tax collections for the fiscal year which ends June 30, up to $6,891,732.05.

Los Angeles county made the largest settlement, its total being $1,814,258.04, while San Francisco was second with a total of $835,142.87.

LECTURE ON INDIA

Berkeley, June 3.—The Hindustani club of Berkeley will offer an illustrated lecture on India before the members of the latter's club house, 3740 College avenue, at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. The lecture will be given by W. C. Lasear, a member of the club. Sant Ram Mandal, the antiracial Hindu from the Punjab who is an honorary member of the Tamalcraft, will preside at the lecture.

CAN'T BEAT "TIZ" WHEN FEET HURT

You can be happy-footed in a moment. Use "Tiz" and never suffer with tender, raw, burning, blistered, swollen, tired, smelly feet. "Tiz" and only "Tiz" takes the pain and suffering out of corns, callouses and bunions.

As soon as you put your feet in a "Tiz" bath, you just feel the happiness soaking in. How good your poor, old feet feel. They want to dance for joy. "Tiz" is grand. "Tiz" instantly draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause sore, inflamed, aching, smelly feet, indolent, achy.

Get a tub of "Tiz" at any drug or department store. Get instant foot relief. Laugh at foot sufferers who complain. Because your feet are never, never going to bother or make you limp any more.—Advertisement.

All Over Body. Itched and Burned. Cuticura Heals.

"I suffered for fourteen years with a severe case of eczema which was scattered nearly over my body. At first it appeared like pimples and then turned to blisters and itched and burned so badly that I scratched and irritated the affected parts. I could not sleep at night."

"A friend told me about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed, in two weeks." (Signed) Mr. E. W. Robbins, R. 3, Box 72, Westby, Wis., July 12, 1920.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles. As Ointine Double Strength is designed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Ointine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear. When the lighter ones have vanished entirely, it is wisdom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Ointine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Advertisement.

BRIDGE OVER BAY GIVEN APPROVAL OF AUTO DEALERS

Action Favoring One of Three Types Taken At Meeting in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Action favoring the construction of one of three types of bridges across San Francisco Bay was taken by the Motor Car Dealers' Association of San Francisco last night after hearing a report from Earl C. Anthony, president of the organization. Following Anthony's report the association favored the appointment of a non-political commission which would have the power to fix terminal points for any accepted structure.

Three types of bridge, which engineers interested in the project say will be possible to span the bay are: 1.—The bascule type or bridge proposed by A. J. Rich, which if constructed, will have two car lanes and have all of the traveling traffic. It is stated by engineers and traffic experts who have been called into consultation with the designers of the bridge.

2.—The suspension type of bridge from Goat Island to Telegraph Hill with a span high enough to clear traffic and costing approximately $75,000,000 would impede traffic, engineers who have investigated the plan say. In addition, costing a large amount of money which could be used to better advantage in a different type of bridge.

3.—The Little-Snyder-Davies plan which calls for a causeway near the Alameda shore close to the naval base site, extending into the bay with a gap which can be tunneled would emerge near Fourth or Kentucky streets, San Francisco, according to engineer and architect in the Gustave Lindenthal, world famous bridge builder, has declared against the causeway type, engineers said, because it would not permit expansion of undeveloped municipalities.

Earning Power of Veterans Increases

More than 80,000 disabled ex-service men, with an average monthly payroll of $12,000,000, are now in training under the Federal Board of Education, according to Ralph T. Fisher, former Oakland man who is now director for vocational rehabilitation in Washington, D. C.

A recent survey made by the Washington office of the first 4000 men rehabilitated, shows that the earning power of each man has been increased by more than $400 a year over his former earning power before the war, according to Fisher.

KIA-ORA KLUB DANCE. As an opening to their summer activities, the Kia-ora Klub will give their initial dance at the Glenview club Saturday evening, June 4. American flags, combined with the club colors pink and green, will be used in the decorations. The committee in charge of the dance is composed of the Misses Lena Ferreira, Gladys Clancy, Ruth Moody, Helen Gandy, Mary Johnson, Irene Allen, Ethyl Oborg, Dorothy Hedberg, Jessie Gannon and Una Steffan.

YOGA. The first class in the

Sportmen, Businessmen On Tribune Query List

Frigatebirds, stockholders and sunken steamships were among the subjects concerning which questions were asked of The TRIBUNE'S Information Department today.

Here are a few of the questions along sport lines that came in:

"On what day was James J. Corbett born? John L. Sullivan? When did Corbett knock Sullivan out and how many rounds? Where did the fight take place?"

Corbett was born September 1, 1866. John L. Sullivan was born on October 15, 1858. Corbett knocked out Sullivan in 21 rounds at New Orleans on September 7, 1892.

Another query that just came in was as follows:

"Was the steamer Eastland, which turned over in the Chicago river, ever repaired?"

The steamer Eastland was subsequently raised and finally taken over by the United States Navy, remodeled and is now known as the U. S. S. Wilmette.

Here is a letter which comes from a man who is a subscriber to The TRIBUNE of 15 years' standing:

"If a company doing business changes its name, must a stockholder change his certificate of stock to the new name?"

Yes. The company certificate of stock should be turned in and changed to the new name.

The TRIBUNE'S Information Department will answer all queries of a general nature, except legal and school questions, debates, firm and trade names and queries as to time of day.

16 replies are desired by mail stamps for return postage only.

If you are looking for general information, "ask The TRIBUNE," Information Department, Lakeside 6000.

Contempt Case Delay Given Piedmont Chief

Summoned to show cause why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt of court for failing to obey an alleged order by Superior Judge A. F. St. Surin instructing him to pay $64 a month alimony to his wife, chief of Police Burton F. Becker of Piedmont appeared in court today only to have his case continued two weeks.

FATHER CONVICTED OF SLAYING SONS

his opinion, been mentally unbalanced for some time.

Cornyn was accused of having taken his two sons, Andrew and Albert, from St. Vincent's school at San Rafael for a Sunday outing in the Marin county hills and shooting them.

The following day he walked into the Central Police station at San Francisco and told detectives of the killing.

The father claimed to have been advised by his dead wife to do away with the sons so that they might join her.

Cornyn will appear Saturday for sentence.

ROTARIANS HEAR EDITOR PRESENT CASE OF LABOR

History of Trade Union Movement Traced Through Ages.

Emphasizing the fact that he was not there to represent organized labor, but that the National Guard is there to speak in their behalf, Dr. Paul C. Glass spoke as editor of "Kar-Vax," the carmen's journal. R. E. Glass addressed the members of the Rotary Club at their luncheon in the Hotel Oakland yesterday voicing his ideas along the line of the aims, objects and methods of organized labor.

The speaker was brought before the club in order that an opportunity might be given to the wage-earner to be heard on the question of industrial relations.

He traced the history of the trades union movement, declaring that it had spread all through the ages, stating that since time immemorial men have gathered together for protection and progress.

He declared that labor's foundation is brotherly love, enumerating among the desires of workingmen the wish for better homes and for the sympathy and cooperation of the employer.

Part of his remarks were based upon an editorial from THE TRIBUNE in which Edison was quoted as stating that our system of education is to blame for conditions in the world today and that there are "too many dead men walking around drawing pay." The speaker also voiced the fact of close association between employer and employee.

Among the special guests present at yesterday's luncheon was Charles Bills, district governor of district 22 of the Rotary clubs.

Final inspection of Company C, California Infantry, National Guards, the first unit to be organized in Oakland since the war, will take place tonight at 432 Fourteenth street, the company's headquarters. Colonel H. D. Coburn, United States Army, will inspect the unit and muster it into the federalized guard of the state. He will be assisted by Colonel Middendorf and Captain Miller. The organization now has 600 on its rolls. Captain Wm. J. Allen is commander of the unit. Donald Bruce and Chester H. Case are the lieutenants. The organization will be recruited to its maximum strength of 150 men.

Largest Class in History Graduated From Oakland Schools

BARZEE ELECTED TO NEW POST IN SCHOOL BUREAU

Lie Is Passed When Campbell Makes Charge Against Director Young.

Lloyd D. Firree, secretary and business manager of the Board of Education who has pushed his department to the top of schools in addition to his other titles, which are made subordinate thereto. The salary is $4500 per annum, as previously, but the deputy is allowed $30 a month for local transportation.

The election was by the unanimous consent of the Board except for Director Fred M. Campbell, who attacked the proceeding.

Campbell also charged that Young, who succeeded Barzee, had spent $10,000 or so in an unsuccessful attempt to be re-elected as a school director.

"Cannot the director speak without the use of personal insults?" objected Mrs. Daisy Short.

"It's not insults but truth," said Campbell.

Superintendent of Schools Fred Hunter produced tables to show that in a large list of other Oakland schools nearly the lowest in the salary paid its business manager.

HUNTER RESENTS CHARGE. "I have heard these remarks hurled here," said Hunter, "and I am wondering if the Civil Service system is to be overthrown and the business department disrupted. Is that what is meant? If so, the children of Oakland are the ultimate sufferers."

"The children have been exploited and commercialized."

"If any man says I spent $10,000 on my campaign," interjected Director Young, "he is telling an absolute lie. My expenses were $75 and my word is just as good as a man telling an absolute falsehood."

The appointment of Barzee was then voted down with Campbell voting to have the vote taken.

Campbell also objected to a reclassification of various officials of the superintendent's office under other titles than the present one. Upon recommendation of the superintendent, a motion was passed naming classifications for employees.

The auditor is classified as a director. The assistant business manager becomes in this class, as does the auditor. A typist, which takes rank with an assistant high school head, and the other positions with their ranks, are: Assistant accountant, high school teacher; secretary to the superintendent, high school head; director of information, departmental elementary teacher.

"I don't understand it," protested Campbell.

LAND AGENT EMPLOYED. A member of the building program committee, recommending that Frank Fletcher be employed as land agent at $300 a month, started another discussion.

The Board of Education has gone bold on salaries," said Campbell.

Marston Campbell of the building department said that the land transactions are now so big that they need some one to look after them. The employment was finally authorized.

A resolution from the Oakland Teachers Association asking that 1100 be granted this year in addition to the usual salaries, to make up for losses sustained by the teachers this year, was finally returned to the budget committee for a report.

The loss of $180 was sustained by the teaching staff in money which could not be earned because the schools shut down so early.

The budget and finance committees

CHILD'S STATEMENT.

The story told by the child of her flight from home her experiences in San Francisco follows:

"On May 18 I was given $8 to buy some drygoods. I did not get along in my home so I took a bus and came to San Francisco, arriving about 5 o'clock in the evening. I went to the Brooklyn Hotel, 849 First street, because I had seen the ad in the paper. There were several men in the lobby and one of them, Mr. Miller, asked me if I wanted to work. I told him I wanted a room and he rang for the landlady. I got a room for $2 a week. She did not ask me how old I was.

The second week I could not pay the rent. My money was gone. I told the landlady I could not pay.

George Miller was taking me out and buying me meals," told him I was 16 years old. The landlady asked me why I did not borrow the money for my room off Miller. I told her I did not know him well enough. I told her I would try and find work and that I had been trying every day. Later she asked me for the rent again. I did not have it. Then she asked me how old I was. And I told her I was 17, and that I lived in San Jose but left home because I could not get along with my mother. She told me I would have to pay my rent so I left and went to Mrs. Hoenes' house Wednesday."

RUNAWAY GIRL'S TALE PROBED BY
POLICE OF S. F.13-Year-Old Child, Rooming Alone, Not Reported to the Authorities, Claim.

The story of how a 13-year-old girl attempted to pit her strength against a big city and failed, and how for two weeks she lived alone and unprotected in San Francisco, was told today by Julie Sullivan, runaway daughter of former City Attorney John W. Sullivan of San Jose, who left her home, 1381 Mission street, San Jose, May 8, and was located after she came to Oakland and asked a friend of the family to notify her father of her whereabouts.

After she had been missing from her home for two weeks and her parents were distracted with grief over their daughter's disappearance, Janie appeared Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Margaret Hoenes, 73 Third Street, and paid a visit to the Juvenile Detention Home in San Francisco after she had left her home because of her mother's inability to understand her and the threats of attorneys for an eastern firm for whom she was selling seeds. Penitless and hungry and on the verge of exhaustion the girl begged Mrs. Hoenes to notify her father of the investigation started.

Today Janie is being held at the Juvenile Detention Home in San Francisco, while the events connected with her adventure are being investigated and until it is determined whether or not to make any arrests in the case. Mrs. Katherine Eisenthal, a San Francisco police woman, was to question the attorney for the eastern firm, who lives in the city where the child stayed, as to why she did not inform the police that a minor child was staying at the establishment.

The girl's mother has been an invalid for five years and Janie was placed under the care of Mrs. Hoenes, according to the story she told Policewoman Elsenhart.

WILD FLOWERS OF CALIFORNIA TO BE ON DISPLAY

Lovers of California's wild flowers this week have the opportunity of seeing some of the rarer wild flowers from the mountain districts around Mt. Shasta in the display room of the Oakland Public Museum, according to an announcement of Miss Anna Mott, acting director of the museum.

Of special interest is the "snow plant," which grows in the woodlands of the high Sierras. Early vacationists in the Yosemite valley may now see these flowers springing up where the melting snows are receding from the slopes, and it is worth the trouble that the specimen on display was sent by a friend of the museum.

A specimen of the "pitcher plant" which feeds on insects that it entangles in its trap-like foliage, is also on display this week. This plant grows in the woods of the high Sierras.

Musk ducks are tamed in great quantities in the West Indies, but those of Guiana are wild and shy.

16-Ounce Loaf Bill
Signed by Governor

SACRAMENTO, June 3.—Governor Stephens today signed Senate Bill No. 492, establishing 16 ounces as the standard weight for a small loaf of bread in California, and 24 ounces as the standard large loaf, six hours after baking. A deviation of one ounce in excess for small loaves and two ounces for large ones is permitted for "commercial tolerances."

An act of the Legislature, signed by Gov. WOMAN RELEASES CLAIM ON ESTATE BEQUEATHED HER

Mrs. Fillius Refuses to Fight for the Property of Dr.
Chamberlain.

The $26,000 estate of the late Dr. Nelson H. Chamberlain, whose four children, in a contest of his will, accused him of permitting Mrs. Love D. Fillius, wealthy widow to exercise undue influence over him, has been ordered distributed entirely by Superior Judge E. C. Johnson.

Virtually all of the property was distributed nearly two years ago, at which time each of the four children were paid $4,500. Personal property consisting of books, jewelry and furniture, to make up the balance of the estate, is ordered distributed among the heirs. The children are: Dr. Edward Chamberlain, Leon Chamberlain, Mrs. R. B. Brewster and Mrs. Helen C. Morrow.

Dr. Chamberlain left $10,000 to Mrs. Fillius, stating in the will that he was indebted to her in that amount for money advanced by her. In the contest filed by the children, it was charged that Dr. Chamberlain had accompanied Mrs. Fillius on a trip through Europe as her physician, and that she had acquired sufficient influence with him to cause him to leave her the bulk of his property, which he thought was much more extensive than it actually was.

Mrs. Fillius expressed her willingness to abandon all claim to the estate, rather than have a dispute over it, but H. G. Morrow, son-in-law of Dr. Chamberlain, filed a suit to recover books and furniture alleged to have been given to Mrs. Fillius by her children during his lifetime. Mrs. Fillius turned over all of this property, as well as abandoning any claim to the estate, which was then permitted to go to the natural heirs.

Mrs. Chamberlain secured a divorce after her husband's return from Europe. She died more than a year ago.

Attorney Abe P. Leach, representing Mrs. Fillius, said today:

"Mrs. Fillius never desired Dr. Chamberlain's property, and the charges that there was anything wrong between them in Europe were absolutely untrue. Mrs. Fillius' two daughters were with her constantly on the trip, and she and Dr. Chamberlain never were alone together five minutes during all of that time. Mrs. Chamberlain started with the others for Europe, but for family reasons at last decided not to go."

Hayward Legion to Erect Clubhouse

HAYWARD, June 3.—Arrangements for the selling of an auto will come before the meeting of American Legion Post No. 63 at the fire hall this evening. The Legion is also planning to give another social similar to the recent alarm clock dance, which will be known as the 100 per cent night.

A large cannon captured during the world war has been promised the local post. On arrival the piece will be placed in the Lone Tree Cemetery and dedicated.

The funds obtained through selling the automobile will be used by the building committee in charge of the plan to erect a legion club house here.

Richmond Man Takes S. F. Girl As Bride

RICHMOND, June 3.—The marriage of Miss Loretta Warren of San Francisco and Jack Barry, lieutenant in the local fire department, was solemnized in San Francisco yesterday. The ceremony was largely secret and only a few intimate friends of the couple were in attendance.

Barry left Richmond yesterday without making known his plans and shortly after the wedding he departed with his bride for an extended tour of the southwest, the couple were to meet in the fall.

DOPE SUSPECT HELD.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Raine Ewell, attorney-at-law, accused of smuggling narcotics to a prisoner in the county jail, appeared before Federal Judge Dooling today. His motion for a trial by jury was denied and he was given a week to plead. The court reduced his bail from $5000 to $500.

Urge Mountain Be Named After Lane

If the recommendation of western officials to the National Bureau of Geographic Names, Washington, carries this, 6000-foot rugged mountain peak standing amid the grandeur of Rainier National Park will be named Mount Lane after the late Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior.

to whose untiring efforts is attributed the saving of the national playground for the people. Lane was a frequent visitor to the Pacific Northwest and an admirer of the mountain peak which may carry his name. It has been suggested that a crypt be erected on the mountain for the ashes of the dead statesman. The former secretary of the interior on one of his many visits to the Pacific Northwest is shown at the side. Lane is the man in the foreground. He is standing on a hill overlooking Paradise Valley, thoughtfully contemplating the very mountain which it is urged shall be named for him, and to which his guide is pointing.

The Dark Secret' Tells How Your Neighbor 'Does It'

Tongmen and Bodyguards Disarmed in Courtroom

"HOW do they do it?" asks Lung Wah of the Jung Ying tong and Sing Sam Chow of the Suey Don tong are in the county jail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon made and using against members of their own and other organizations.

The world over, asked the question, and Lucian Cary, in his delightfully novel mystery story, gives us the answer in next Sunday's OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

"The Dark Secret" is the name of the story, one of the best Cary has ever written. It will be complete in the Sunday issue.

"The Bride of Mission San Jose," "The Tiger Hounds" and many other interesting features will make up the Sunday magazine.

Mrs. Nancy W. Flood Is Called by Death

RICHMOND, June 3.—Mrs. Nancy W. Flood, 50, widow of a retired police officer, died yesterday morning at her home, 1110 12th Street, Richmond. She was being tried on charges of assault to commit murder in connection with a fire on April 13 in the courtroom of Justice of the Peace Ralph Richardson when Chinese from many parts of the state thronged the courtroom.

The case on trial was that of Ham Chuck Lee, Lee Shun Yen, Sam Hoy, Sam Goo and Chang Chien.

Sam all of the Suey Don tong, who were being tried on charges of assault to commit murder in connection with a fire on April 13 in the F. J. Lowrie ranch. The defendants were released.

At the outset the courtroom was filled by the yellow men, and fearing a disturbance Judge Richardson ordered all present to stand by the fire door or leave the courtroom.

A rush call to Oakland brought Deputy Sheriff Jack Collier and Bert Brown here in a high-powered automobile.

Members of the Jung Ying tong were present with John Doe warrants to effect the return of the defendants should they be released in the present hearing. These warrants charged something of all of the important sections of the Penal Code.

When the Chinese defendants were released a rush was made to serve these warrants, but the deputy sheriffs interfered and would allow no arrests to be made save where positive identifications could be made.

Wong Wah identified Sing Sam Chow as the man who committed the assault on May 26 in Suisun, so Sing Sam Chow, not to be outdone, promptly accused his accuser of an assault in Bakersfield, and so they were both arrested.

According to Deputy Sheriff Joe Soares it then appeared as if every accuser would be accused of some wrongdoing by the man he had arrested and that if the process were kept up all of the hundred Chinese present would have accused and be accused by some other one of them of a felonious crime.

Throughout the whole affair there was a great waving of fists and an excited jabbering in which a goodly number of the various Mongolian tribes were called upon to cast a plague upon the other Chinese present.

It was afterward explained by Soares that one of the ways that the Chinese tongs embarrass a rival tong is to prefer charges against its members, even though they are often groundless, and have numbers of them thrown in jail. In his opinion that is the explanation of the many and vigorous accusations of "robber," "murderer," "thief," etc., that were lung yesterday here.

Members of the Jung Ying tong were present with John Doe warrants to effect the return of the defendants should they be released in the present hearing. These warrants charged something of all of the important sections of the Penal Code.

RUINS INDICATE DIFFERENT RACE OF CLIFF MEN

DURANGO, Colo., June 3—Discovery of prehistoric ruins of what is believed to have been a different race of cliff dwellers from those who inhabited the ruins in the Mesa Verde National Park, was reported by Charles Hayes of Mancos, Colo., who has just returned from an exploration trip.

The discovery, he said, was made in an almost inaccessible region to the north of the Navajo mesas, back by trails.

He believes he was the first white man to view the ruins, many of which were larger and better preserved than those in the Mesa Verde National Park.

The dwellings were found, he said, at the point where the mountains break away into the deep canyons that open into the San Juan and Colorado rivers.

Other discoveries have been made by scientists near Pagosa Springs according to reports received here, but no details are given.

Dr. J. Walter Fewkes of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington is in charge of excavation work in the Mesa Verde. He is planning further explorations in the San Juan on the Yucca National Monument, Mummy Lake district, and around Aztec, N. M.

73 Millions in Treasure Found In Cave, Texas Engineer Claims

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 3—

After ten years of ceaseless searching through the wildest portions of Northern Mexico, Adam Fischer, geological engineer, has announced to his home here today that he has finally located and laid claim to the famous Cavallo Blanco treasure cave in which he claims there is over $72,000,000 in gold and silver bullion and Spanish octagonal dollars stored. He is now awaiting concession from the Mexican government in order to bring his huge treasure out of the mountains.

The story of the gold and silver back in Spanish dollars date back to the early part of the nineteenth century when a revolution against the Spanish rule in Mexico was in progress.

Spanish officers, fearing defeat, removed the bullion from the treasury and concealed it in the Cerro de la Silla mountains, near Monterrey, in the state of Nuevo Leon.

Mountain bandit gangs made the returning Spanish officers and killed them.

An ancestor of a prominent engineer was captured during the revolution by the mountain bandits and held a captive in the famous cave where the stolen treasure was concealed. One day he was recognized by a bandit whose life he had saved. He was permitted to escape. On his return he described the location of the treasure cave to Adam Fischer, his most intimate friend.

Fischer, spent years searching through old records in an effort to locate the hidden wealth and ten years ago announced to his friends he was going into Mexico to claim the wealth. Nothing was heard of him until he reappeared in the city today announcing that in his ten-year search had been successful.

Spanish officers, fearing defeat, removed the bullion from the treasury and concealed it in the Cerro de la Silla mountains, near Monterrey, in the state of Nuevo Leon.

PROTECTION FOR THE ALIEN

Senator Kellogg has introduced a bill which would authorize the President to maintain, through the federal courts or otherwise, the treaty rights of aliens in the country when those rights are threatened by State laws. The President would be empowered to instruct the Attorney General to take up the defense of aliens whose rights might be infringed and to order the transfer of such cases from State to federal courts.

The purpose of this proposed legislation seems clear—to make maintenance of the integrity of treaties easier. But the provocation for it is of doubtful quality. The federal laws and the federal courts as now existing afford ample protection to aliens against prosecutions or other acts under State laws which violate or disregard treaty obligations the federal government has assumed. There are not many instances in which State laws go contrary to international treaties, and no case of which we know where the desire to contravene any treaty is overt and conscious.

In cases where a federal question is involved, and alleged violations of a treaty is a federal question, the defendant alien has the recourse of appeal to the federal courts, and there the merits of his plea is determined by a judicial officer according to the law. The theory that no State law may be so applied as to violate the terms of any treaty is unanimously accepted by the courts. Precedents are abundant and decisive.

At present the defendant alien must make the choice of appeal to the federal courts and bear the expense of the proceedings. But the Kellogg bill would impose upon the federal government the expense of defending the alien's rights, of supporting his contentions. This is the first major change aimed at. The second is to repose in the President and the United States Attorney General the discretion to determine whether a federal question exists and to proceed in accordance with the opinions these two executive officials may entertain.

This is a somewhat radical departure in doctrines of law and government, and is the more surprising because it is suggested by Senator Kellogg. At present a plea of federal question must be maintained before a judge of the federal courts. The appellants interest in the question must be established before the court. But Senator Kellogg would substitute the Attorney General and the President for the judicial knowledge and authority of the courts.

Without entertaining any doubt at all as to the competence of the Attorney General and the President to determine whether the State laws contravene a treaty or a federal statute, the safer way already prevails. The courts are unquestionably competent. They are always open to the alien who believes his rights are transgressed. Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why the federal government should undertake the expense of prosecuting the alien's case and thus assume the position of suspecting and opposing laws the several States may enact.

GRAPES IN DEMAND.

Opening prices for California wine grapes were announced yesterday by the California Grape Growers Exchange, a cooperative marketing organization of vineyardists. They ranged from $5 to $20 per ton higher than prices for the same grades last year. The highest increase is for those varieties of highly colored juice. The estimated crop is 275,000 tons, considerably below the normal, and if sold at the announced prices will bring the growers approximately $20,000,000.

There are two reasons ascribed for the increased demand for California wine grapes. One is the short crop caused by heavy damage from frost, and the other is the strong call for wine grapes for grape juice, grape syrup and for sacramental and medicinal purposes. By far the major portion of the grape crop will be shipped to the Eastern seaboard.

Apparently the use of wine grapes for commercial grape juice, syrup and sacramental and medicinal purposes has expanded tremendously in the Eastern States. It calls for vastly larger quantities than consumed a few years ago and the users are willing to pay fancy prices for California grapes.

ifornia's crop. The wide growth of the use of the grape for sacramental and medicinal purposes would seem to indicate a curious development in the social and religious customs of the Easterners. Here seems to be a profitable ground for investigation by the students of the habits and modes of human life.

ALASKA'S NEW GOVERNOR.

President Harding has appointed Mr. Scott C. Boggs to be governor of Alaska to succeed the incumbent, Hon. Thomas Riggs, Jr. Mr. Bone has had a long career as a newspaper man. After having been editor of an Indianapolis paper for seven years he went to Washington, D. C. in 1888, and shortly afterward was made managing editor of the Post of that city, a position which he held for seventeen years. In 1906 he became editor and publisher of the Washington Herald. In 1911 he went to Seattle, Washington, and from then until recently he was editor-in-chief of the Seattle Post Intelligencer.

The new governor of Alaska is therefore a veteran newspaper man and this may provoke many expressions of confidence in his fitness for the important official duties just assigned him by President Harding. On the other hand, Mr. Bone's appointment will be charged by critics of the administration as being purely political. It was prominent as director of national publicity for the National Republican Committee in the campaign which resulted in the election of Mr. Harding to the Presidency.

But putting both these considerations aside, there is very broad ground for believing that the selection of the new governor of Alaska is a most fortunate one. There is perhaps no point in the United States from which to get the correct perspective of Alaska's problems as they are related to the people of the whole country better situated than Seattle. That city is so placed geographically and in relation to the business between Alaska and the mainland that it has witnessed the direct effects of policies and lack of policies at the national capital. No other city in the country is so anxious to see Alaska prosperous both for the benefit of herself and the country as a whole.

Mr. Bone was placed at this important strategic point for many years, during which he was editor of a useful newspaper of the North Pacific and was chairman of the Alaska Bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. His business was to obtain information concerning Alaska and his position was such as to permit him to get a full view of the opportunities and the misfortunes of Alaska.

Information uncontaminated by personal or sectional interests is the most useful asset of any official charged with administrative and executive duties. Mr. Bone is peculiarly fortunate in this respect, and in addition he has the advantage of being clear minded, normally impatient with destructive delay and indecision, and possessed of an attachment to the idea that Alaska should be developed to a healthy, vigorous state of prosperity for the benefit of the people who live in the territory and with a view of benefiting secondarily the business and commerce of the Pacific Coast.

One with such qualifications justifies popular confidence. And if the bureaucrats at Washington will give the new governor a chance Alaska should go ahead during Mr. Bone's administration.

St. James, Missouri, has a woman mayor who entered politics because of her indignation over an act of official injustice against a small boy. Perhaps Mayress Ousley will not be able to make recurrence of such acts impossible, but one with her vigorous spirit should certainly reduce the probability of recurrence. Every community is better off when injustice provokes the foes of injustice to enter the public service. It is not enough to sit by and wait at injustice.

Mt. Lassen, California's active volcano, has had 600 eruptions in six years, or an average of 100 annually. There are other volcanoes more violent, but very few that are more steadily on the job.

THE LIBERATION OF EUROPE.

In spite of unfortunate mistakes in details, it remains true that for the first time in history Europe enjoys a natural political map or, at least, a fair approximation to it, a map drawn in accordance with the unforced aspirations and the spontaneous affiliations of the peoples themselves. The map of Europe drawn by the Congress of Vienna and changed later, "now as such principle peoples were bound from sovereignty to sovereignty like children to a master," the determining factors being the ambitions of the power, and the cunning of sovereigns and their foreign ministers. As they sowed so indeed, did they reap, for most of the wars of the nineteenth century after 1815 had their roots in efforts on the part of oppressed groups and peoples to throw off alien rule and join congenial political units. Therefore, it was not unnatural that the Paris Peace Conference should have been carried away by the popular demand for self-determination. It was a slogan which stirred into action the dormant dreams of many ancient peoples.

When the great empires east of the Rhine began to fall, still more of the cherished hopes of common humanity to the fore in the hearts of oppressed races. Some communities did not wait for Paris to act, but with a courage born of strong desire, severed the political ties which had bound them for centuries and established governments for themselves in which their several racial entities dominated. It was the greatest and yet in some ways, the maddest movement in history. In the endeavor to be free everything was overlooked. Not tribal entity was too small to have its own for self-determination. Social and economic considerations were unreckoned with, and only thought for the moment was to reach back to the countries when they were nomads and were masters of their own fortunes and desires. The suffering and hardships of the war seemed to fall from them in this hour of joy, and nothing appeared to matter if once again they might escape from the domination of their overlords—Colonel Edward M. House, in "What Really Happened at Paris," Charles Scribner's Sons.)

Nickle-Wiggly Stories

by Howard R. Garis

She pinched his tail in the lemon squeezer

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE SQUEEZE EEZIE.

One day some company came to visit Mrs. Wibblewobble, the duck lady. There was Mrs. Twystytail, the pig lady and Mrs. Bow Wow, the pig lady and Mrs. Bow Wow, the Bow Wow.

"Oh, my goodness!" quacked Mrs. Wibblewobble, as she looked from the window of the duck penhouse and saw the company coming up the board walk. "I didn't expect anybody today and I haven't enough tea in the house to make a cup."

"Why not give them lemonade, Mother?" quacked Lulu, one of the duck girls.

"I will," said Mrs. Wibblewobble. "I have the lemons and sugar. But our squeeze eezie is broken. Come over to Uncle Wiggly's, like a good duck girl, Lulu, and borrow Nurse Jane's squeeze eezie."

"I will," answered Lulu, and out of the back door she waddled, as Mrs. Twystytail, the pig lady, and Mrs. Bow Wow, the dog lady, entered the front door of the duck house.

"Come right in!" quacked Mrs. Wibblewobble, as she met her friends. "Come in and sit down. I'll give you a glass of lemonade as soon as you cool off a little. For you know it is not wise to take cool drinks when you are warm."

"Oh, I shall just love some lemonade," barked Mrs. Bow Wow.

"So shall I!" grunted the pig lady. "Goodness, I hope Lulu can get Uncle Wiggly's squeeze eezie!" thought Mrs. Wibble wobble, looking out of the corner of one eye to see if her little duck girl might be coming back.

Lulu safely reached Uncle Wiggly's hollow stumpy bungalow. She paused only long enough to call "Hello!" to the bunny gentleman, who was reading the cabbage leaf newspaper in the sitting room, and then Lulu hurried out to the kitchen.

"I've come to borrow your squeeze eezie, Nurse Jane," quacked Lulu.

"You may have it and welcome," spoke the muskrat lady housekeeper. "What's this?" thought Uncle Wiggly, twinkling his pink nose sideways, he was so surprised. "What's this? A squeeze eezie? I never heard tell of such a queer thing! I must ask what it is."

Going out to the kitchen, Uncle Wiggly saw Nurse Jane had something to Lulu from the dish closet. Then the duck girl started to fly back home.

"What's a squeeze eezie?" asked Uncle Wiggly. "If it's something that I may never eat in all my life!"

"Hardly," laughed Nurse Jane.

"If you want to see what a squeeze eezie is, come with me!" quacked Lulu, and went down the walk.

Uncle Wiggly said Uncle Wiggly to himself. Off he started but, as he had the rheumatism rather painfully that day, and didn't stop to get his coat and his striped barber pole crutch, the bunny would not go as fast as Lulu, who hurried on ahead.

But he catch up to her, and see what that squeeze eezie is! thought Uncle Wiggly. He was hopping along through the woods, when, all of a sudden, a great big blot that now or other had gotten out of his circus cage came bounding along.

"I want ears!" I want ears!" roared the blot. "Oh, I must have ears to blabber!"

"Whose ears?" asked Uncle Wiggly, trying to stop his pink nose from twinkling like a molasses cookie. "The bunny wouldn't see him now, I'm afraid." Whose ears do you want?"

"Yours!" roared the big circus beast. "Rabbit ears are very good. I hear the Skilly Scally Alligator says so. I'm going to nibble yours!"

"No, you are not!" suddenly quacked the brave little voice. "Who says I am not?" howled the blot.

"I do!" came the answer, and there stood Lulu Wibblewobble, the duck girl.

"How will you stop me?" sneered the blot.

"With this squeeze eezie!" replied Lulu, and then running up to the blot, she pinched his tail in the lemon squeezer that she had borrowed from Nurse Jane that the blot roared.

"You're right, Lulu. You're right. That's the point of my joke," quacked her mother. But it was a good joke, I think. And if the window curtain doesn't go upstairs to see how the new tip top looks, I'll tell you next time. Uncle Wiggly and the police will."

THE POWER OF GENIUS.

What is genius? Can it?

Now, there's Paderevski, for instance—Paderevski, the Passionate Pole—Paderevski, the pale man with the flaming hair who drove half the emotional world mad in America into hysterics not so very long ago, just by the way he could run a trill on the piano.

And now here he is back in America—out of politics and, he says, out of public entertainment, forever.

He left his piano and his devoted circle of ardent admirers three or four years ago, and tried to save his native country.

And now here he is, back in America—out of politics and, he says, out of public entertainment, forever.

He's a great statesman, they say, and a real patriot, according to his lights, and he astonished the world with the fervor and the passion of his leadership.

He was a great patriot, they say, and a real man of character as well. There's no getting away from that.

Then there's Mary Garden. Many critics say that she can't sing at all, yet she is one of our greatest prima donnas.

If you haven't seen Mary Garden do "Thais," you don't know much about modern opera—you'll observe I say "seen," not "heard."

Oh, she's a genius—there isn't much room for dispute of that question! And most geniuses, you know, never can tell whether there's any money in the bank or not, or when to pay the rent or how to keep from starving to death.

CONSIDER THESE EXAMPLES.

Some one has to think of all these things for a genius—we know that he is a genius—the first genius that his stone hummer at the man from the other tribe who offered to pay him for a figure he'd carved out of the mud with a sharpened bone.

And yet here's Mary Garden managing a great opera company, adding and subtracting, engaging and dismissing, picking and choosing, rehearsing and directing—every one of these things affairs with which a singer is supposed to have absolutely no concern! And she's making an amazing whirlwind of a success!

The Schubert, Heinrich Schubert, Schubert would be a great personage if her voice of white velvet wasn't there at all.

The greatest journalist in America isn't a great journalist because he has a special flare of journalism, although no one who knows him would think of denying that he certainly has that flare.

He's a great journalist because he's a genius, and he happened to turn his genius into the channels of journalism—that's all. He'd have made a great lawyer or a great doctor or a great party leader or a dozen other interesting things.

When you have genius, you have a throbbing engine in your brain. If you want to go up hill, step on the gas—and up you go.

If you want to slip down the valleys, set your brake—and be off. You can carry a beautiful lady to the opera with that engine or you can put it in a truck and fetch potatoes to market with it.

But—you must have the engine. That's the important thing.

I never yet saw a man or woman of commanding personality and great success in any profession who didn't plainly show that there would have been the same success in two or three other quite different fields.

THESE ARE MYSTERIES STILL.

You can't curb genius—you can't keep it under wraps, you can't bury it, you can't make it go to sleep. We buy little mortals. We're always investigating this and deciding that—and fusing over the other thing. And just when we think we have the whole world ticketed and labeled and safely pinned-holed for reference and analytical study, up springs a genius with his torch afame—and all our little theories crumble to nothing.

It's a good thing to be reminded once in a while that we don't know everything, isn't it?

Charming Wash Frocks for Children

Bust-Colored Straps Decorate This White Dress

Contrasting Colors Emphasize Daintiness of Organdie Dresses

By ANNETTE BRADSHAW.

While the skirt repeats this mode of trimming.

Children's wash frocks for play or for school show many clever touches of color. This is often achieved by the use of narrow bands of the same fabric in different colors or the introduction of some decoration which contrasts both in color and fabric.

The former method is prettily illustrated in the frock at the left. This is fashioned from rose organdie which looks so dainty on the small girl. The rounded neckline is defined with a narrow band of rust-colored linen and bands of it ornament the front.

To the right is a dress of white volta organdie with straps of rust-colored linen. This little model is designed with kimono sleeves and a rather full blouse. The neckline is outlined with a strap of rust-colored linen and bands of it ornament the front.

The skirt shows alternating flounces of the linen and voile, while the twisted girdle is made of the voile lined with a band of blue organdie.

The bust is decorated with a band of blue organdie.

The bust is decorated with a band of blue organdie.

Children's wash frocks for play or for school show many clever touches of color. This is often achieved by the use of narrow bands of the same fabric in different colors or the introduction of some decoration which contrasts both in color and fabric.

The former method is prettily illustrated in the frock at the left. This is fashioned from rose organdie which looks so dainty on the small girl. The rounded neckline is defined with a narrow band of rust-colored linen and bands of it ornament the front.

To the right is a dress of white volta organdie with straps of rust-colored linen. This little model is designed with kimono sleeves and a rather full blouse. The neckline is outlined with a strap of rust-colored linen and bands of it ornament the front.

The skirt shows alternating flounces of the linen and voile, while the twisted girdle is made of the voile lined with a band of blue organdie.

GERMANS SLAIN IN FIGHT WITH POLISH TROOPS

Factories Burned, Property Is Destroyed by Looters in Upper Silesia.

UNITED PRESS
MAILED WIRE TO TRIBUNE
LONDON, June 3.—Polish insurgents in Upper Silesia have caused great property losses at Malspolane, according to despatches here.

A large force surrounded a detachment of Germans there, killing thirteen and gaining entrance to the town. Six large factories were hurried and fifty civilians who attempted to aid the Germans were taken prisoners. The civilians are being held as hostages for the safety of the invaders.

The invading force was joined by others. All of them are living on what they can commandeer from the Poles.

The Poles also took the offensive at Pless. The insurgents were not opposed in entering the city and the few German policemen on guard at the principal buildings were powerless. Sixty of them were taken prisoner when the Poles made a rush for the Castle of the Prince of Pless which was wrecked and looted.

Jubilee Singers Will Be Heard At Church

The Southern Jubilee Singers will give a concert at the First Baptist church of Oakland tonight. The Jubilee Singers have been appearing throughout the East Bay district during the last several weeks.

Dialect readings from Paul Lawrence Dunbar, piano solos by the "Colored Paderewski," violin and vocal solos will constitute the program. In the party of singers are twelve basses, three baritones, four soloists, three instrumentalists, two readers and one violinist. The public is invited.

Reversal of Albers' Conviction to Stand

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Attorney General Daugherty has refused a request of the Oregon Bar Association that he reconsider the Government's confession of error in the case of Henry Albers, wealthy citizen of Portland, convicted of violation of the espionage act.

The attorney known when Senator McNary of Oregon, as counsel for the association, filed in the Supreme Court a petition asking a stay of the court's order reversing the conviction and remanding the case. Senator McNary's petition was taken under advisement.

CHURGY TO GET $1800.

TORONTO, June 3.—Presbyterian ministers are to receive a minimum salary of $1800 a year and the bonus granted aged clergymen is increased 25 per cent as the result of action taken by the Presbyterian General assembly. The church at large will guarantee the minimum salary.

JUST HAD TO FIGHT TO GET HIS BREATH

Almost a Physical Wreck Raff Builds Himself Back to Vigorous Health.

"I had a great deal about Tanlac and since trying it myself I can conscientiously say it is the best medicine I have ever seen in all my experience," said David Raff, 250 N.

DAVID RAFF
250 North 59th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Beth St., Philadelphia, recently. Mr. Raff has lived in Philadelphia all his life and is well known and highly respected.

"My health was all broken up," he explained. "My stomach was all out of order and gave me so much trouble that I actually dreaded to go to the table. I would simply rather go without eating than suffer the awful misery I knew would follow. I would break up, so with gas the heart would beat a terrific rate and I would sometimes I was having smothered to death. I just had to fight for my breath. My nerves were all undone. I slept poorly and was all the time having headaches that were almost blinding. I lost weight and felt so weak and run down all over I could hardly do any work."

"Sometime ago a good friend of mine told me he knew Tanlac would help me and he spoke so positive about it that I took his advice. And I can say right now the result is the best medicine I ever saw that will do exactly what they say it will. Five bottles have the same as made me all over again. I can eat anything I ever could in my life and have gained fifteen pounds in weight. I'm no more nervous than a child, sleep fine and it just makes me feel happy to be enjoying such good health. Tanlac certainly is a great medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Oakland by the Owl Drug Company and leading druggists—Advertisement.

Thirty-five Agricultural Bills Signed by Governor

SACRAMENTO, June 3.—Thirty-five bills pertaining to agriculture were signed last night and today by Governor Stephens. Included in the list was A. B. 1126 by Bernard, known as the California Warehouse Act, which provides the machinery for making the grain standardization law effective and regulates the bulk handling of grain in conformity with the U. S. wheat act. It carries an appropriation of $25,000.

Senate Bill No. 98, by Rigdon, also approved, provides for the prevention of tuberculosis in cattle. It is known as the "Tuberculosis Free Animal Bill."

The other bills approved are:

Senate bill 204, by Jones, which places the county horticultural commissioners of California under the direction of the State director of agriculture in the enforcement of quarantine and standardization laws, and any other laws which may be enacted relating to movements of commodities which are of vital interest to the agricultural industry of the state. It also authorizes the appointment of more than one horticultural commissioner in counties where the work of such volume as to require the failure of any horticultural commission to perform the duties as directed by the State director of agriculture will constitute "neglect of duty," and the commissioner may be summoned before the trial board created to handle such cases.

TRIAL BOARD PROVIDED.

This trial board is provided for by Senate bill 202 by Jones. This bill also provides that state-wide examinations shall be held to fill positions as county horticultural commissioners, and that the successful candidates shall be examined by the State director of agriculture to be eligible for appointment to any vacancy in the position in the entire state.

Senate Bill 21, known as the California fruit and vegetable standardization act, amends the same law as enacted in 1917 in several particulars which experience has shown to be necessary. It provides that all grapes whether for table or manufacturing use, shall contain a minimum sugar content of 16 or 17 percent according to variety, and permits the use of sulfites or sulfuric acid for manufacturing use under permit of the department of agriculture. This bill was approved by the grape producers.

Senate bill 6, by Rigdon, known as the grape seed bill, requires a truthful statement of the contents of seed containers of five pounds or more on the label.

Senate bill 7 appropriates $15,000 for a seed testing laboratory to aid S. B. No. 6.

Senate bill 153, known as the California State Agricultural Inspection Act, is a new law defining all grains in conformity with the U. S. Grain Standards Act and is approved by Federal authorities. Growers, shippers and buyers of grain. It provides that the federal grain standards shall automatically become standards.

Senate bill 308, by Parker, authorizes a license fee for the business of conducting a nursery or selling nursery stock in the state.

FOR ENFORCING LIENS.

Assembly bill 840, by Cleary, amends the political code section relating to the duties of horticultural commissioners. Provides for more effective method of enforcing liens against property that has been cleaned up by the horticultural commissioners.

Senate bill 203, by Jones, is to allow the county horticultural inspectors and deputies to receive increased compensation for present the amount of $10 a day. This bill allows the payment of whatever amount may be fixed by the county horticultural commissioner and board of supervisors.

Senate bill 276, by Harris, amends the dairy products act of 1913, which sets standards for the manufacture of cheese, strengthens the pasteurization feature, and defines goat and sheep milk.

Assembly bill 332, by Hume, authorizes the director of agriculture to import beneficial insects from foreign countries and authorizes the use of $10,000 of their funds for this purpose.

FOR NEW COLLEGE.

Assembly Bill 300, by White, creates a board composed of a member of the college of agriculture, the director of agriculture and the three agriculturists appointed by the government to investigate sites for an agricultural college in Southern California.

Assembly bill 338, by Cummings, provides for the voluntary testing of cattle by the owner, the test to be made by the department of agriculture.

Senate bill 236, by Rigdon, provides that no cattle be sold, under estray laws without notification of the department of agriculture for the purpose of ascertaining if branded or marked cattle are being sold without notification to the owner.

Assembly bill 124, by Powers, provides for the inspection of foreign cold storage meats and their identification when sold.

Senate bill 231, by Boggs, the noxious weed act, provides for the declaration of noxious weeds free and clear of dangerous weeds.

Senate bill 343, by Bush, provides for the eradication of scabies in sheep.

Senate bill 273, by Inman, regulates the manufacture and sale and use of economic poisons, and is known as the California Economic Sanitary Act.

1'CREDIE MOANS AS OAKS GIVE BEAVERS DOUBLE BEATING

ONUS MITZE SHOWED GOOD JUDGEMENT IN SUBSTITUTING PLAYERS IN THE PINCHES

CREDIE SO MAD THAT HE REFUSED TO ACCEPT A FLORAL HORSESHOE

z Arlett Hurls Best Game of Season; Art Koehler Smashes Single That Wins Game

By EDDIE MURPHY
hen a man's baseball team is wandering aimlessly around the field and gasping for air it is no time to slip him a flock of birds or make him stand up in front of an "admiring" throng. A probably from Portland, attended the festivities at the local yesterday afternoon and between games attempted to present tager Walter McCredie of the Beavers with a big floral piece. ter's team had just dropped another game to the Oaks, and so the big Scot was feeling fine.

"Step up and get your floral piece," chirped the announcer as he entered to the plate.

"Step up, h—," yelped Walter; "take it away."

was adding insult to injury and, anyhow, the Beaver skipper has doubts about the intention of the donor. Walter has chip- in many times to purchase just such things for the dear de- tailed, and even though his club is a dead one this year, he won't it.

one fans remarked after the sec- game, that it was an outrage to the Oaks win both games of double-header, so he must have the good fortune who wished the world to see some decented to Beaver buster. All during the game, fans commented on the horsehoe. The hot dog man of Mary's College were so give- scule Guisto. Another fan said he was positive that some ardent Francisco fan had sent it over. The whole bunch around him ght he spoke the nearest to the truth. It was later learned that he guessed wrong all wrong, and so the loyal Portland booster ed McCredie to get it.

Art Koehler Makes McCredie Moan by Hitting in Pinch.

As was mentioned the other evening, Art Koehler, the Portland east- manager, with the Oaks, is making Walter McCredie moan for letting him go. Art caught a single on Wednesday, when the Oaks grabbed their first win from the Beavers, and he also looked fine in the first game of yesterday's double header. Muze started out in the second game, but after the 9 to 1 beating he received, in the first game, after being relieved, he hit safely in eighteen consecutive games, being charged with twenty-nine hits for an average of .427.

"Spee" Shea, the young chucker, who pitched the Sacramento club to easy wins over the Oaks and Arlett, another triple by Koehler and his single gave the Oaks four off Poisen in the second. Sid Ross and Miller had two hits apiece, and the Beavers were named easy picking for the Oaks.

The Oaks gave George Winn a triple in the first inning, which was followed by Koehler and Russell (Buz) Arlett looked more at any other time this season, the Portland club didn't have a chance at all. The boy put more stuff on the ball, and then they got three.

They grabbed another pair in sixth, and then Harkness pitched the game in the first inning.

BENEFIT BOXING SHOW AT LOCAL AUDITORIUM JULY SIXTH

BETS ON BIG FIGHT MAY BE DECIDED BY A COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY NEWSPAPER WRITERS

Pacific Coast Is Famous for Its Athletes

Stars of the Sport World Hail From the Golden West.

By BILL UNMACK.

From time to time the Pacific Coast has given the country stars in various lines of sport, but never in such high-class men in all lines of sporting endeavor as 1921.

Go over the list of world champions in boxing—other days and we find John Coughlin and Jim Jeffries in the heavy weight division; Willie Ritchie, lightweight; Abe Attell, featherweight; Alzner, represents the third class of coast. Besides these men there have been a dozen and one others who were right up near the top.

Tennis has produced its Maurice and Mel Long, Tom Burdys and many others in the past.

Not overlooking May Sutton among the women.

Baseball had added its share with Bill Lange, Ping Pong, Harry Heilmann, Walter Matus, etc., etc.

Football sports have produced Al Plaw, Ralph Rose, George Horine, Eddie Beeson, George Parke, Fred Gehrke, Alvin Hawley, etc.

And Fred Kelly, Bert Lengenbach, so we could go all down the line and name dozens in all sports.

Now the latest big feather in the east of the Pacific coast is the victory of the University of California track team over the best in the country at Boston. That is a victory that will attract the eyes of the country to this coast and a decided show to make the east sit up and take notice.

NOT PROVINCIAL.

We are accused in this far west of being provincial by the easterners. We are told we are backward, unprogressive and that when our heroes go East they fall down. This accusation hardly holds good in the face of what has been done in the last few months.

Bill Johnson, San Francisco, is one of the two leading tennis players of the world and with Bill Tilden of Philadelphia brought the Davis cup to the country after a long absence of seven years. The University of California football team established a right to be considered as one of the leading teams of the country by swamping the State of Texas.

Charlie Paddock of Los Angeles has shown his merit by breaking records after record in the sprints that have stood in the track field for nearly ten years. Ed Boyden, a school boy athlete of Vallejo, Cal., showed the superiority of scholastic stars of this coast by winning three events in the national inter-scholastic meet at Chicago.

In baseball Harry Heilmann, a San Francisco boy, at the latest figuring was leading the batting averages of the American League while George Kell, another coast boy leads the National league in home run hitting, and Sammy Bohm is the leading base stealer of the American league.

The fight between Dempsey and the Dempsey-Carpenter fight is a coast born product and if the referees will be another great western man to add to the long list.

ARE ONLY A FEW STARS.

Those are only a few stars. Space prevents us from naming of such stars as Jeanie of Washington, Murphy of Portland, Miller of San Diego and Oakland, Foggs and Tuck of Washington and Oregon, the greatest stars and most popular in the country today, not to mention stars of other sports all over this coast. Is it any wonder the coast is proud of the athletes.

It is true, however, that the coast west is hanging on the performance of the California eight-eared crew at Poughkeepsie June 22. If the crew cleaned up their act, we will wait for the coast to answer.

GOSSIP from the JUNGLES

By MAURY PESANO.

The Oakland Natives will travel to Livermore for a game with the home club Sunday afternoon. Chester Case, manager of the Natives, hopes to have even better than the 10-1 win that took the measure of the Halton-Didders last Sunday. Charley Jensen, who twirled some good ball in the TRIBUNE league, has been signed to play for the Oakland Natives this season, and will be backed by a strong team, both on the defense and offense. John Healy, who has been back to the Natives since the start of the season, is back again, and is doing some good hitting and fielding. John is picking them out of the dirt around the Natives' home field, and Dick Pessano, Horace Bannock, Herb Gerlach, and Teely Ferraro hope to make the trip to Livermore.

Doctor Charles Broad, who was at the hospital for the past several weeks, has now returned to the Natives.

Several seasons ago, when they were performing in the TRIBUNE league, may take a hand in helping Manager Case to land some talent for the club. Charley is an old-timer at the game.

Bill Crosby, Fred Selway, are doing well with the Natives, and in the Santa Clara Valley league around the top rung. At present they are tied for first place.

John Webb is doing the pitching, while Selway is holding up his shoes in good style. Crosby is taking care of the hot ones around the difficult corner.

Emerson McNally and "Babe" Hollis are performing for the San Rafael club, and are holding their own in positions. Hollis' hitting makes him a valuable man on any club.

"Truck" Kuss, manager of the Halton-Didders, is well pleased with the showing of his boys in their last few games. Kuss has three good heavyweights, and a good lighter weight. Kuss has been using him in the outfield. Addie Chase, who played such wonderful ball for the Halton-Didders last season, has been back with the club, performing around the short patch. Lefty Eason is doing some fast work around first, while Erich Schreiber, left fielder, is drawing a lot of admiration from the fans. Eason has been hitting the ball in the pinch.

Frank Bethel, manager of the Modern Woodmen, hopes to take his bunch to Sacramento to San Jose for a game with the Woodmen of that town. Bethel's team has been clean- ing up everything around here and I hope to see them with the rest of the country clubs. In fact Sprinkel, Bethel has Sprinkel Ward to take a crack at the pitching job in an emergency.

CLEVELAND—An effort will be made to induce Cy Young, Chief Zimmer, Nap, Joe and other former Cleve- landers to come and play an old-timers' team to play a few innings against some picked team during Cleveland's 125th anniversary celebration, July 22-23.

Eee-Yah Hughie Jennings

Hughie used to manage the Detroit Tigers and put pep into the outfit. In his new role of assistant manager of the Giants he is livening up the game by his coaching and if the New Yorkers win the pennant Johnny McGraw will share the honors with Hughie.

Work Starts On Stanford's New Stadium

Johnny Morton and H. S. Weber On Campaign Committee.

By FRANK CARRUTHERS.

Special Correspondent International News Service.

STANFORD, Calif.—British woman golfer, who won the title in the final round of the annual tournament today at Turnberry, may visit America.

Miss Lettice has just received an invitation from Miss Anne Morgan asking her to come to America and play exhibition matches for fund raising. She has agreed to do so and will immediately proceed with the organization of several hundred Stanford alumni in Oakland.

R. Harry D. Weber, former Stanford man, has been appointed manager of the stadium fund and will perfect a complete organization of all the students and faculty.

TO PUBLIC SHARE.

For the first time in recent years the general public will be permitted to share in the distribution of tickets for the annual Stanford-California football game on November 15th.

Students for the first time will be given the right to buy tickets for the annual contest during the next fifteen years, whether the game is played at Stanford or Berkeley.

Non-subscribers will probably pay a higher admission price if they have the privilege at all.

It is the intention of the Board of Athletic Control to admit students to the game for $30. The price to the general public will be $5.

While the subscribers to the fund will enjoy a preference in admission.

TO WITHDRAW FUND.

In addition to serving the purpose of constructing the stadium, it is the purpose of the various subscribers from the gate receipts and place thus, fund at the disposal of the University sum to further the educational aims of the Alumni Association.

The new stadium will have a minimum seating capacity of 50,000 people and in addition to providing a permanent place for football and festivals, and in time enjoy the immunities that followed the success of the Greek Theatre at Berkeley.

DEMPSSEY'S RISE WAS METEORIC

CALIFORNIA AND PRINCETON ARE PRACTICING

ARPENTIER PLUGGED LONG WHILE DEMPSEY LEAPED INTO LIMELIGHT

striking Contrast in Careers of Big Fellows Who Meet in Jersey City.

By JAMES J. CORBETT,

Former Heavyweight Champion of the World

(Written expressly for the International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 3.—In striking contrast to Georges Arpentier's long climb up the fistic ladder through the various divisions from bantam to heavyweight is the meteoric rise of Champ Jack Dempsey.

Less than six years ago the present title-holder broke into the ring for the first time. He was then twenty years old. What he did not know about the boxing game in those days would have filled many a volume, for he was just a big, strong, rough-and-ready boy with an idea that he wanted to be a fighter, but no knowledge of how to use his strength and no one to tell him what to do.

First year in professional boxing he started with disappointments, for though he won a number of bouts with knockouts, he had to "ride the rods" in ding about the country for five years, found him little if any work and toward the latter part of the year became discouraged and gave up the game when he got a four-round bout with Jack Kearns, a very ordinary fighter. It had not been for Jack Kearns, who might have passed out of professional boxing, but it was that Dempsey and Kearns had met with the result that in three short years Kearns had his protege to the world's championship.

er Forget About Flynn Battle.

Last time Dempsey tasted defeat was in February, 1915, when man Jim Flynn knocked him out in the first round of a bout at Salt Lake City.

The same year Dempsey had his bronchitis disease battle with Willie McLean, who proved a winner. As a result along he kept growing heavier and he did not take on pounds as did Carpenter. He was constantly learning, constantly campaigned him in the four corners of the Pacific on decisions over Charley Miller, Carl Morris and several others. At this time Dempsey just beginning to cut out and he was to be a weight loss. As a result he kept growing heavier and he did not take on pounds as did Carpenter. He was constantly growing stronger and in the end of James Kearns' day he picked up the fine points of game.

Dempsey may not be a wizard at the ropes, but he is the rushing, rushing type of fighter who is as is in many ways his best defense, yet the fact that he bears no scars of severe damage indicates he is well able to take care of himself.

Paris Is Awarded 1924 Olympic Games

GENEVA, June 3.—(By The Associated Press)—The International Olympic committee today awarded the 1924 Olympic games to Paris. Amsterdam was awarded the 1928 games.

Dempsey and Douglas

John Harrison Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, is some husky individual, but Doug Fairbanks, movie picture star, is no weakling as can be seen in the accompanying picture. Doug is "hefting" Jack and doesn't seem to be under any great strain. After he dropped the champion he admitted he would as soon tackle the Woolworth building next. Doug didn't say how long he held the champion like this, but he admitted he was glad when the canister clicked and the stunt was over.

Who'll Win?

(By United Press.)

NEW YORK, June 3.—Lieutenant Heiple Miller, former bantam and featherweight champion of the navy and sport editor of "Our Navy,"

"Dempsey will win if he can win in six rounds. Carpenter will win. Dempsey is strong and can hit. Carpenter is fast and can hit. Among service men the question of which soldier we selected to man down and most of the boys in khaki and blue are pulling for the Frenchman. This should not be so. The Marquis of Queensberry says nothing about war medals. If Dempsey wins, Tom Connelly, T. J. Donahue, John Foy, Willie Meehan and Bill Brennan will not beat Carpenter. I give the Frenchman an even break."

This fine pitching started the Indians with a victory as they commenced their first eastern invasion at Boston.

Georges' Speed Is Noticeable in Sparring Bout

MANHASSET, N. Y., June 2.—A right hand that worked like a piston, a shiftness that is dazzling and a smile typical only of Georges Carpenter—these things were on exhibition at the training camp yesterday.

After spending most of the morning on the road and in the gym, Georges ate a light lunch and appeared for work again at 3 o'clock. First came the slow but hard-hitting Joe Jeanette, who held a few of George's punches in their two rounds.

Jack Goldberg, of Panama, a welterweight, was the star sparring man. He stepped into the ring and exchanged smiles with Carpenter, then proceeded to give the challenger the best workout he has had in America.

They worked fast and Carpenter for the first time displayed his remarkable speed. Around the ring he dashed quickly as a hawk, working his punches accurately and rapidly.

Over went his left, then a swift right and he was out again. He attempted to catch Carpenter, but not to hurt his opponent, but one of his rights caught Goldberg on the jaw and he fell to Carpenter's shoulder. Carpenter held him until he could recuperate. Goldberg recovered quickly and they were at it faster than ever. With the two fighters joined Georges patted Goldberg on the shoulders, laughed and said: "Fine, that's good—the best I've had." A big crowd witnessed the workout.

When Sullivan Stopped Ryan

He Not Only Lost the Purse But Was Also Robbed.

The coming Dempsey-Carpenter bout for the world's heavyweight championship records records for former title-holders.

The first of the modern clashes of any heavyweight importance took place February 1, 1908, at Coney Island across the Louisiana line from New Orleans. John L. Sullivan knocked out Paddy Ryan with bare fists in the ninth round.

Ryan, born in Boston, weighed 150 pounds, and Ryan, a native of Tipperary, was ten pounds lighter.

The Irishman's left jaw was broken in two places by Sullivan's smashes.

Paddy staggered to his dressing quarters to discover that while he had been taking a sound thrashing, some rascals had stolen all of his money and the gold my money bag.

He was flat broke, for the winner got the entire purse.

Dempsey to Get Busy With Boxing Workout

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. June 3.—This was another day of rest for Champion Jack Dempsey, after his return from Europe. He means to take a lay-off. The champion will resume boxing in public tomorrow. His short period of rest has been punctuated with baseball, but despite the fact he has been up on the move Dempsey has taken on several pounds and now weighs close to 200.

The Irishman's left jaw was broken in two places by Sullivan's smashes.

TRADERS IN GRAIN BEGIN BATTLE TO SAVE CHICAGO PIT

"Fighting Joe" Griffin Is the Leader in Campaign to Kill Opposing Bills.

By CARL VICTOR LITTLE, United Press Staff Correspondent, CHICAGO, June 3.—"Fighting Joe" Griffin led grain traders in battle to save the "pit," the world's greatest grain market.

The "pit," famous in fiction and fact stories the world over, is known otherwise as the Chicago Board of Trade, futures examination by legislation.

A death blow is dealt "pit" operations in bills pending in Washington and in the state legislature at Springfield.

Many embattled farmers, speaking through their representatives, demand that speculation in grain cease and that market activities of the "pit" be curtailed. Traders say this would mean death to the exchange.

INJURY DENIED

Leaders of the opposition farmers view the "pit" as a gambling place where fortunes are made and lost at the expense of the farmer who produces.

Griffin, wealthy president of the board of trade, has organized his allies to fight for the right of the exchange to exist. Griffin holds that some speculation in grains is essential to grain marketing, and that farmers do not suffer but are helped by "pit" operations.

Some farmers have rallied to Griffin's cause. Farmers stormed the legislative halls at Springfield, demanding that the exchange bill be killed.

The "pit" is one of the show places of America. Usually a visitor would no more think of leaving town without seeing the frantic brokers buying and selling thousands of bushels of grain with the twist of a thumb, than they would leave Egypt without gazing on the pyramids.

BEGAN BACK IN 1855

"Way back in 1855 a farmer joined into the little prairie town of Chicago with 78 bushels of wheat in his rickety cart. He sold it at a high price and went home and told the neighbors.

Neighbors' rickety carts followed.

As Chicago was established as the grain center of the world.

Carts were replaced in 1848 when the first grain reached Chicago by rail. That year 82 merchants and traders established the city with a membership of 40. It now counts 2,000 to 3,000 grain dealers.

At grain speculation, now the target of many, started during the Civil War. At that time there developed a large volume of trading in grain "to arrive," because it became necessary to let large contracts for grain for future delivery for armies in the field.

BANKRUPTCY PETITION. A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in the United States District Court by Eroll Maynard, Oakland merchant. He owes $17,793 and has assets of $4732.

SURVIVOR FROM GREELY ARCTIC EXPEDITION DIES

Was Weather Forecaster and Served With Custer in Indian Campaign.

SAN JOSE, June 3.—Maurice Connell, United States forecaster here, and said to have been one of three surviving members of the Greely Expedition to the Arctic, 1881-84, died here today, aged 75 years.

Of Greely's party, which numbered 25 when it set out for the frozen north on August 12, 1881, only seven were alive when the third relief expedition under Winfield Schley, later rear-admiral, rescued them.

Connell, one of the seven, would have been 60 when he died, and had been delayed at sea a few days longer. Two members of the party still are alive and reside in the east.

TRAGEDY OF NORTH.

The Greely expedition, consisting of 22 men, had set out in 1881 to establish an international post office. It reached 83 degrees, 44 minutes latitude, then the farthest north, discovered new land north of Greenland and crossed Grinnell land to the great Polar sea. Then came the tragedy. The expedition failed to meet the relief ship Proteus, which had been crushed in the ice and was forced to take refuge near bleak Cape Sabine, where many perished of starvation. One member of the party, however, shot Greely for that repeated act of foolishness. When Commander Schley found the seven survivors they had been 42 hours without food of any kind.

Connell, unconscious when found, was for the moment thought dead. For three days he lay in a stupor, and when survived aboard the ship he thought himself in another world. "When I was weighed three weeks after the rescue I weighed 102 pounds, my normal weight, that time was 100 and 1/2 pounds," Connell said, in telling of his experiences.

SERVED WITH CUSTER.

Before going north Connell for ten years served in the army in the west. He fought Apaches in Texas and Sioux in Nebraska, served under General Cook, a famous Indian fighter, and fought with General Custer.

Connell was placed on the retired list in 1901 and in 1905 became weather forecaster at San Jose.

Connell was born in Ireland on the shores of Lake Killarney. A son, George Albert Connell, of Alameda, survives, and one sister, Mrs. G. Griffin, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

PLEDGE SALE OF 80,000 PENCILS

Lest you forget—Pencil Day! Tomorrow morning hundreds of pretty girls, working in the interests of charity, will attack the business and residential sections of the East Bay districts in an effort to sell 80,000 pencils before the day is officially closed. From unwary pedestrians on the streets to the dignified inner sanctums of bank presidents and business house managers, the girls and women comprising most of those engaged in the society will work. No mercy will be shown, various district managers announced, as an absolute pledge has been taken by the organization sponsoring the event, the Ladies Relief Society, to sell the 80,000 pencils.

Mrs. William Thornton White will act as director of the sales in the greater cities of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, assisted by group captains and lieutenants, who will actually supervise the work. Yesterday a number of the prettiest sales girls, chaperoned by Mrs. W. H. Christie and Mrs. Otto Zues, attended the ball game at Emeryville and collected money toward the Pledge Day fund.

Money derived from the sale of pencils tomorrow will be used by the Ladies' Relief Society, a philanthropic organization, for the care of sixty-five little homeless children and a number of old folks also without homes.

According to Mrs. White, director of the drive, funds for the maintenance of the home are badly needed and should the plans for the home for the next year fail to materialize because of the small amount collected from the sale of pencils, it will be necessary to close the doors of the institution.
